

Seminar-slides Guide

Wenxuan

COMPASS

Feb 18, 2021

① Seminar-slides Markdown Guideline

② Pandoc Syntax

Leave a blank line between all non-intimate elements. The specific rules are as follows.

- ▶ Leave a blank line between the separator and the contextual content.
- ▶ A blank line between the title and the content.
- ▶ Leave a blank line at deliberate line breaks.

Intimacy exception.

- ▶ No blank lines should be left between unordered lists and ordered lists.
- ▶ No blank lines should be left between content that needs to be kept continuous.

1 Example

| 4

this is the last line of the page, content ends.

A Title

This is the line 1 in the page, aba, aba.

This is the line 2 in the page, bala, bala,
and this is also the line 2 in the page,
and this is still the line 2 in the page.

- My point 1
- My point 2

1 The title symbol

| 5

Example

Section name

A title

This is content.

B title

This is content.

A block title

Foo Bar

- ▶ Use # as section separator, ## as page title, and ### as block separator.
- ▶ # (section) must be followed by ## and cannot be immediately followed by content.

① Seminar-slides Markdown Guideline

② Pandoc Syntax

Guide

The page is written by Wenxuan to show you guys how to create double columns in markdown to beamer.

Guide

The page is written by Wenxuan to show you guys how to create double columns in markdown to beamer.

Sample

Left side text.

Left side text again.

```
pub fn foo() {
    println!("Hello World");
}
```

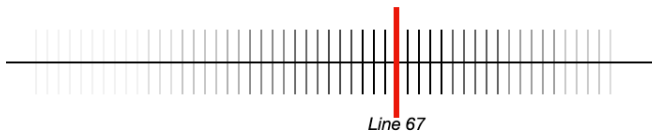

Right side text.

- ▶ Can do anything.
- ▶ Can do almost everything.

2 How to: The image example

| 9

Use syntax like `{height=80%}` to control height and width of images.

Last instruction: `mov x0, x1`

Reg x0	Reg x1	...	Reg x30
0x0001	0xffff		0xbeef

MEM [#0]	MEM [#4]	...	MEM [#80]
0x0005	0xfffe		0xdead

Next instruction: `mov x1, x2`

2 How to: Fancy layout

| 10

Proposal

- ▶ Point A
- ▶ Point B

Pros (40% width)

- ▶ Good
- ▶ Better
- ▶ Best

Cons (60% width)

- ▶ Bad
- ▶ Worse
- ▶ Worst

Conclusion

- ▶ Let's go for it!
- ▶ No way we go for it!